Task 3 – Using an appropriate online tool create a wireflow for a Flutter App

For the wireflow, a template was again used along with some images which were browsed such as the logo for the health app and images representing the various options to be selected. The purpose of the wireflow is thus to represent the user interaction between some of the screens when the user clicks on the 'create account' button, for example or when the user is doing a health check whereby they are prompted to enter the symptoms experienced so as to determine the disease they might have.
